

BACKGROUND

Sure ID (Eid Passport) is a privately owned access control company based in the state of Oregon. Founded in 2000, the company operates a system primarily used by retailers to track when vendors are at their individual stores, and secondarily to allow for quicker access to military facilities, both utilizing radio-frequency identification in conjunction with background checks. With its headquartered in Hillsboro, SureID has revenues of an estimated $30 million and has 500 employees as of 2017.

Their mission is to integrate leading edge products and services into solutions that combine identity authentication, background screening, and identity management. Eid Passport programs (U.S. Patent Nos. 6,779,721 and 7,631,805) enable highly secure facilities – such as military installations, government buildings, manufacturing and distribution sites, ports, and commercial buildings – to increase security and streamline access for authorized personnel.
